The Oklahoma Humanities Council is an independent, 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization whose mission is to provide meaningful public engagement with the humanities—disciplines such as history, literature, film studies, art criticism, and philosophy. As the state partner for the National Endowment for the Humanities, OHC provides teacher institutes, Smithsonian exhibits, reading groups, and other cultural opportunities for Oklahomans of all ages. With a focus on K-12 education and community building, OHC engages people in their own communities, stimulating discussion and helping them explore the wider world of human experience.
The Oklahoma Humanities Council Board of Trustees and Staff wish to thank the National Endowment for the Humanities, the State of Oklahoma, and the following individuals, foundations, and corporations who provided financial support during the period of November 1, 2008 through October 31, 2009. Our work would not have been possible without you—our valued friends. Thank you for your enthusiastic support of the humanities in Oklahoma.

What our audiences have to say:

Teacher Institutes
It was a great experience to take part in this historical event. I would definitely recommend every teacher to attend in 2010.
—Teacher Participant, Culture and Diversity in Curriculum at Oral Roberts University

Oklahoma Connections
[I learned] how to understand the story through illustrations and how to read a book.
—Participant, Purcell Public Library

I’m interested in books and want to read more.
—Participant, Cleveland County Literacy Program

Oklahoma Chautauqua
I’ve never attended a Chautauqua before and it has been thoroughly enjoyable with quality workshops and actors. [I] can tell a great deal of work has been done by local organizations. Thank you!
—Participant, Enid

Let’s Talk about It, Oklahoma!
Enjoyed the discussion and the thoughts it evoked.
—Participant, Oklahoma City University

Excellent series. The favorite of many discussions.
—Participant, Alta Public Library
