Question	0 Points	1 to 2 points	3 to 4 points	5 points	Points Awarded
How strongly does the organization's core work focus on the humanities? Please note, only humanities-focused organizations are able to receive these general operating support awards.	Does not meet this criterion in any way or the applicant did not answer this question.	The organization provides some humanities programming, but it is not a significant part of the core mission.	While the organization may focus much of its programming in areas other than the humanities (e.g., the arts), a good portion of its work still centers on traditional humanities subjects.	The key focus of the organization's work is in traditional humanities fields as defined by the National Endowment of the Humanities.*	out of 5
How well did the organization document the impact of the coronavirus on their organization and community?	Does not meet this criterion in any way or the applicant did not answer this question.	The application documents some adverse coronavirus impacts, but the impacts are not well quantified or no specific examples have been given.	The applicant clearly demonstrates the impact of the coronavirus in the application in well-defined terms with specific examples.	The applicant clearly illustrates that their constituents were disproportionately impacted by the pandemic with specific examples and in well-defined terms.	out of 5
How well does the organization demonstrate their project budget and funding request is justified and reasonable?	Does not meet this criterion in any way or unallowable costs were listed (see table below)	The budget sheet and/or the budget narrative contain multiple errors, unallowable costs, or are not well justified.	The applicant provides a clear and reasonable budget and budget narrative that generally align.	The budget and budget narrative are clear and reasonable. The funding request is justifiable. The budget and budget narrative align and are error free and all costs are allowable.	out of 5
